

Remember Our Past, Build Our Future...

Wish you could make the world a better place – and earn a paycheck at the same time?

Human services careers are all about helping people in need, whether its children, adults, families or seniors. Now is a great time to get into the human services industry, as this field is growing quickly.

Examples of human services jobs include case manager, caregiver, activities coordinator, substance abuse counselor, behavioral health aid or correctional facility worker.

For more information contact:

Angela Johnson
Division Chair
angela_johnson@bfcc.edu
(406) 338-5441 ext 2236

Crystal LaPlant
Human Services Instructor
claplant@bfcc.edu
(406) 338-5441 ext 2237

Mari King
Human Services Instructor
mking@bfcc.edu
(406) 338-5441 ext 2251

www.bfcc.edu

Blackfeet Community College is a Tribally Controlled Community College Accredited by Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges

Established 1975

Blackfeet Community College

Human Services Program

Associate of Arts Degree Program with emphases in:

-  Human Services/Behavioral Health
-  Psychology
-  Chemical Dependency
-  Criminal Justice

One-Year Certificate Program:

-  Behavioral Health Aid

Human Services/Behavioral Health Emphasis

If you have a strong desire to help others, a sincere respect for humankind, and a commitment to your own personal growth, you may find a career in human services very rewarding. The Human Services A.A. degree program provides skills-based training, based on a foundation of theory, to prepare you for an entry-level position within a human services agency or transfer to a 4-year institution. This program provides you with a basic understanding of interviewing and assessment techniques, case management, crisis intervention, group counseling, cultural competencies and hands on field experience. Students will also examine the Blackfeet worldview as it relates to the Human Service field.

Behavioral Health Aid 1-Year Certificate

This program will provide the student with basic skills and knowledge in behavioral health competencies. They will be able to utilize their skills with clinical supervision for employment as a behavioral health aide and/or continued training in human services fields; such as psychology, social work, behavioral health, chemical dependency or criminal justice.

Chemical Dependency Emphasis

Addiction can take many forms. Individuals today are coping with addictions to a variety of substances and activities, including alcohol, drugs, gambling, shopping, and self-injury. Managing addiction involves more than just identifying available treatment options. Uncovering the internal and external behaviors that cause these disorders is critical to helping individuals who suffer from them.

Through the Chemical Dependency degree program, you can explore current theories about what causes individuals to develop addictive behavior and what can be done to prevent it.

Psychology Emphasis

Psychology is the science of the behavior. Students studying psychology may seek to answer questions such as, “what is the impact of losing Blackfeet culture?” or “what creates a happy workplace?” The Psychology degree program provides you with a broad understanding and global perspective of psychology and its relevance in an increasingly diverse and global society.

Although answering these questions is meaningful in and of itself, the study of psychology can also lead to tangible careers in mental health services, teaching, business, and research.

Criminal Justice Emphasis

In recent years the Criminal Justice field has grown. Through the Criminal Justice degree program, you will explore cognitive, behavioral, and psychological theories of criminal behavior from the serial killer to the terrorist. Discover and analyze types of victimization and how to work with victims.

Career possibilities for students completing this program include but are not limited to Police Officer (Tribal, BIA, Deputy Sheriff, Security Officer, Parole and Probation Officer, Juvenile Probation Officer, United States Customs and Homeland Security.