

Food and Beverage Policy

Library users may bring food and drink into the Library, provided they adopt the “Leave No Trace” ethic. That is, whatever leftover food and trash you accumulate should be placed in a trash receptacle and the area in which you were eating should be left clean so that others are not subject to trash in the library. Cleaning materials can be obtained at the Circulation Desk.

These rules apply to all library spaces, with the exception of the Archives and the Computer area of the Library which are designated as “No Food and Drink” zones; no food or drink of any kind may be brought into these two areas.