Please follow the theme “Ikamotaat” as it relates to resilience. The Bear River massacre was one of many atrocities the Amskapi Pikani people endured and have survived through resiliency. The theme was inspired by the leadership who envision the people to use this resilient strength in moving forward. Going beyond historical trauma into healing and resiliency is a strength that every Amskapi Pikani person attains. The very essence of resiliency is choice. Like the survivors of this massacre, resiliency is a decision we have the freedom to make. Let us be encouraged by this year’s commemoration to find resiliency in ourselves, our community, and the connections we have in our midst.

Session Length: 50 minutes

Application Format: Please provide contact information as requested below and return this form. Also, please attach a brief (2-3 paragraphs) description of your presentation (either hand written or typed is acceptable).
